

Sexual Health Champions

We're developing a programme to train people in the community and in particular people in England's key communities most affected by HIV, to understand the importance of early HIV testing and good sexual health, so that they can work within their communities to encourage people to take a HIV test and sexual health checkups. These groups include gay, bisexual and other men who have sex with men (MSM) and African people.

More information on the programme will be available in January 2015.
